

- The Hills District CHRSL Program - Essential information for Coaches and application form

What is Max Potential?

The Max Potential project offers 22 weeks of personal leadership development, including coaching, to young leaders from schools and the community to help them maximise their potential during the final years at school and beyond. It also encourages students to focus on the local community and ways that they can work to improve it.

How much does it cost?

- The cost of providing these services is $1995 + GST per coach. Some of these will be funded by Castle Hill RSL Club through a limited number of scholarships.
- It is envisaged Max Potential will be sustainable through individuals and business organisations paying for these services as part of their staff management development as well as alternative funding arrangements to be explored.

What's in it for coaches?

- Max Potential draws on leaders within the community, business, industry, schools and churches, equipping them with progressive coaching skills and tools that apply across personal, life and employment contexts.
- You will be given training in a life-coaching model which explores ten personal leadership principles and the opportunity to use these in practice with Max Potential participants, supported by your own Future Achievement Australia coach.
- All coaches will have the opportunity to build coaching into a personal and professional leadership profile, including the possibility of further life coaching accreditation through Future Achievement Australia Pty Ltd.
- There will also be a certificate of participation which can be used for further career opportunities.

What's your commitment?

There are a few key dates, highlighted in the coach application form which you will need to be available for in order to participate in the program.

- You also need to commit to regular coaching sessions with the young person(s) you will be coaching. These will be in the form of seven school lesson period (approximately 60-minutes) coaching sessions.
- There will also be three 3.5 hour group meetings where your coachee(s) will get together with yourself and others in the program to discuss their progress (called Connect Groups).
- You will also be given three one-hour coaching sessions with a Future Achievement Australia coach during the early part of the coaching process, with ongoing support via phone or email until the end of the program.
- You will have a 3.5 hour Coach Only Connect Group for more input on coaching skills.
- At the end of the Program there is a Showcase Event, which will display all that the young adult/s has learnt and achieved through the Program.

To be part of the Max potential youth leadership program to be held in 2011, you will need to read and complete the application form and return it to:

Questions about becoming a coach

1. Does everyone have to do the coach training?

Yes, the coach training gives everyone common language, models, tools and processes. It enables coaches to experience being coached and to explore the potential of the coaching process.

Coach training allows for participants to demonstrate that they have the required coaching capability.

2. Does coach training cost anything?

- Yes and No.
- The cost of providing these services is $1,995 + GST per coach (this includes the cost of the student being coached). This can be funded through Castle Hill RSL Club which has a limited number of scholarships available for 2012. Individuals and organisations are encouraged to pay for their own applicants outside of the Castle Hill RSL Club scholarships wherever possible.
- It is envisaged Max Potential will be sustainable through individuals and organisations paying for these services as well as alternative funding arrangements to be explored.

3. I used to be, currently am, a teacher. Do I still have to do the coach training?

Yes. Coaching is a very different process to teaching. Coaching has a very specific process and framework. If you are a teacher and become a Max Potential coach, this will enhance your teaching as you begin to explore the use of powerful questions and being an accountable partner in helping someone achieve authentic success.

4. I'm a very savvy business leader. Do I still need to attend the coach training?

Yes, for the same reasons as teachers. Coach training will enable you to coach your own people to –

- more consciously develop character,
- reflect on how they are achieving success in their own lives
- increase personal productivity and motivation, and
- consistently contribute to business success, for themselves and those around them.

5. Who facilitates the coach training?

Consultants from Future Achievement Australia Pty Ltd (FAA). Future Achievement Australia is a consultancy and life coaching community specialising in reinventing the way organisations and individuals maximise their success. The coaching experiences are based on 10 personal leadership principles, called MAXIMISERS©.

6. How long does the coach training last?

Two full days, plus three 1-hour coaching sessions over a period of up to five months where you will be coached by an FAA coach. FAA coaches will support and encourage helpful debriefing and facilitate personal and program evaluation throughout the 20 week Max Potential program cycle.

7. What time commitment do I need to make?

Developing the coaching capability

- 2 separate Saturday Coaching workshops
- Max Potential Media Launch (1 hour)
- FAA coaching of coaches (3 hours of face-to-face personal coaching over 22 weeks)

- Personal coaching preparation (a minimum of 1 hour of preparation for each of your personal face-to-face coaching sessions)
- Introductory workshop (3.5 hours)
- Leadership coaching one-on-one with young leaders to build MAXIMISERS© principles into their lives and provide support for a community project (at least of 7 sessions over 22 weeks per young leader(s) + preparation time + administration, reflection and debrief time)
- Young leader/coach final showcase, which will celebrate community service project and achieved leadership outcomes (4 hour session)
- Connect groups (3 x 3.5 hours within the 20 weeks of the program)

8. What support is available when I become a Max Potential coach?

You will have the support of your own FAA coach as well as the Max Potential Project Manager. Debriefing and review will be built into the coaching processes as well as optional opportunities for informal debriefing with other coaches.

9. Do I provide my personal details to the young adult(s)?

No. However, sharing personal leadership stories is an important part of the coaching relationship and we encourage this as a builder of relationships.

10. What sort of security checks are carried out on coaches?

To fulfil duty of care, all coaches are required to complete the 'Working with children consent form' and a 100 point identity check as part of the Government's 'Working with Children' practice checked by the authorities, in this case The department of Education. This simply means that when you provide your personal details on the application for coach training, the Max Potential Program Coordinator will refer the information to the Department of Education for appropriate screening. Coaches are also required to provide details of a personal referee who can attest to the good character of the coach.

11. What insurance cover is there?

Each coach must ensure they have their own comprehensive motor vehicle insurance when travelling to and from a Max Potential activity.

12. What do I get from being involved?

We encourage you to see the personal benefit of developing coaching skills as a primary "walk away with" benefit of the program. Coaching skills will assist you to be more effective in key areas of your life - as a team leader/manager, as a teacher, as church leader or even as a parent/grandparent. More importantly, you will be contributing to the life of emerging leaders within the Hills District and have a direct impact on how they help to build the Hills District as a community. We trust that, as with most coaching relationships, you will learn much about yourself as you progress through the training and the coaching and that your own life and success will be enriched.

13. What if I want to stop coaching during the program?

A. If you are a scholarship holder, i.e. the Castle Hill RSL club had paid for your involvement, and if for non-extenuating circumstances you decide you do not wish to continue in the Max Potential program, you will be required to pay back your scholarship, $1995 + GST AND assist in finding a solution that does not impact on the young adult being coached.

If withdrawing for extenuating circumstances the scholarship fee will be waived and you need to assist the Coordinator to find a solution.

B. If your employer is paying then you must first discuss the implications for your employer and then discuss a solution with the Coordinator that minimises any impact on the young adult being coached.
